DETAILED ACTION

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 41 and 44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for "a plurality of data are read out from the data storage area in response to a communication between the disc and the computer", does not reasonably provide enablement for "if the read out data does not include control data for the computer, then the control data is obtained from a source external to the computer system via the communication control circuit of the disc. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to understand how "control data is obtained from a source external to the computer system" when the computer system comprises a disc that stores the control data, the invention commensurate in scope with these claims. Specifically, the way the claims are words the specification would not support the claimed invention. Correction/Explanation is required. Claims 42 and 43 are also rejected.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 44 recites the limitation "the computer system". There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.
